INDIAN HANDICRAFTS TO BE ON SALE AT MCGILL IUS INVITED TO PARIS CONFERENCE WITH NFCUS

Chorus Line To Feature Plumbers' Ball

The Engineers' annual formal, 'The Plumbers' Ball', will be held this year on Friday, January 22, at Sir Arthur Currie Gym. The music for the ball will be provided by Blake Sewell and his Orchestra.

Tickets for the dance, which is the usual cabaret style, will be sold for $5.00 per couple in the Engineering Building Lobby, between 12 and 2 pm starting Dec. 14. These tickets will be on sale for one week only; they will however go on sale once again after the exams in January. This admission fee will include the customary, tables, chairs, ice and mixers.

In keeping with the dignity and traditional policy of the ball the guests will not be admitted unless formally dressed. Either tux or tails are acceptable.

Headlining this year's Plumbers' Ball will be a chorus line from Montreal's Bellevue Casino. "The girls on the line are co-operating wonderfully with us, and from what I've seen at rehearsals they have much to offer," says John Metrakos in charge of entertainment.

In addition to the chorus line there will be various Engineering exhibits presented by the departmental clubs. Prizes will be given for the best display.

Science Fiction's To Discuss General Semantic

What is general semantics, and why is it attracting attention in the modern world?

These questions will be answered tomorrow evening at 8:15 p.m. in the Boardroom on the second floor of the Union; when the McGill Science-Fiction Club will hold an open discussion on the topic.

Three executive members of the Montreal General Semantics Society will be the guests of the Club for this discussion, which will be chaired by club president John Thomson. The visitors are Dr. Henry Tutch, a management consultant and treasurer of the Society; Don Patrick, who organizes study groups for the Society; and Alf Herman, vice-president of the Society.

All students interested in this topic are invited to join members of the Science-Fiction Club for this discussion.

World Events

Tucker's Town, Bermuda.— Britain, the United States and France agreed yesterday on the text of a note to Moscow accepting a Big Four meeting with the Russians.

Vicksburg, Miss.— A tornado skipped through this Mississippi River city of 28,000 Saturday night, killing at least 26 persons, leaving 230 injured and causing damage estimated at $25,000,000.

London.— A private group of 30 British business men announced yesterday that they plan to go to Moscow in January for trade talks with the Russians.

Tehran, Iran.— Religious Leader Ayatollah Kashani, openly opposing Premier Fazlollah Zahedi over resumption of diplomatic relations with Britain, yesterday threatened a nationwide "hate British campaign".

Udine, Italy.— Italian troops began withdrawing yesterday from their emergency positions along the Yugoslav and Trieste Free Territory borders.

New York, N.Y.— As the strike of photo-engravers against six of the city's seven papers continued into its ninth day yesterday, the Herald Tribune which had shut down five days earlier in sympathy, came out with a 2,000,000 copy eighth page addendum publication.

McGill will get a taste of Montreal's cabaret circuit when the Bellevue Casino chorus girls invade the campus on January 22nd. The event is the Plumbers' Ball, a formal dance under the auspices of the Engineering Undergraduating Society. The Ball is open to the campus.

New Ping Pong Table In Union Ballroom

by Ross Kayes

The Union Ballroom, scene of Players Club productions, freshmen dances, crowded SEC meetings, has now taken on a "New Look". In the front right hand corner stands a ping pong table. You may notice that there are no nets, bats, or balls in the near vicinity. This is no coincidence.

These implements, usually associated with the game of ping pong can be obtained from George at the Tuck Shop by paying a deposit of 50 cents. For those who read quickly and don't absorb the meanings of the individual words, a deposit is something which is returned to the payer, when he, in turn, returns the good.

ADVANTAGES
There are many advantages to be obtained from the new ping pong table, says the Union House executive. For one thing the ping pong table is an excellent place to eat your lunch. If you are eager to lose weight then the situation is indeed suitable, for you can work off the calories gained by a vigorous game of ping and pong.

Another good point that the executive has to offer is the fact that both sexes are welcome to participate in the sport. Whereas the poolroom is very biased in its membership requirements, the ping pong table will tolerate no

Villain Absconds With Scientist's Apparatus

Current query is "Who removed the Santa Claus balloon from the ceiling of Moyse Hall and how?" A Science undergrad testing one of Newton's laws (it was H. Galileo or Aristotle?) released a helium-filled balloon Tuesday last and the same had disappeared Wednesday. As these playthings are guaranteed to remain ethereal for at least six days, it is suspected that foul means were employed to remove this added decoration from the three-holed ceiling of Moyse Hall.

Newman Club

Friday, the 18th, is the date of the Annual Christmas Party at the Newman Club. It is a gala event at which Santa usually arrives to distribute his gifts to good little boys and girls.

Sunday, the 20th, is the day on which the last general meeting of 1953 will be held at Sacred Heart Convent, Atwater Ave and Côte des Neiges Road.

Besides these events, members should not forget the theology groups, and Mass which is said every morning at 7:30 and 8:00 a.m., and on Wednesdays at 5:05 p.m.

Roman Catholics and their friends are always welcome at Newman House, and they are urged to participate in these activities. "Mens sana in corpore sano."

Campaign Nears $5000 Objective

With the co-operation of all, the Combined Charities objective of $5,000 might yet be reached. Because of incorrect telephone numbers, 1,100 students have not been personally canvassed. For their convenience, booths will be set up today and tomorrow in the Arts and Engineering Buildings and in the Union, at which they may contribute.

The response from the student body to date has been very satisfactory, the executive reports. Over $4,000 has already been collected, and 700 envelopes have yet to come in. The average donation has been $1.57 from the 75% of the student body which donated.

"The executive attempted this year to have every student at the University personally canvassed. At times, this was impossible; for this reason, the booths will be placed. Now, anyone wishing to make a contribution may do so, without waiting for a canvasser. Receipts will be issued to all donors.

A new record has already been set at McGill. Last year's campaign netted only $2,938.70. Considering that $1,100 of this came from benefit dances, it shows how much more successful this year's campaign is.

Wilson Southam, Chairman of Canvassing said: "The response of the student body to this year's campaign has been magnificent. I cannot thank our canvassers and other members of the hierarchy enough. At this time let us not forget our good friends, Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis who opened the campaign with their donation."

Although Southam did not know he was being quoted, he nevertheless expressed the feelings of the entire executive.

If the objective is reached this year, it will be the first time this has been done since the inauguration of direct canvassing. In past years the objective has been reached, but by methods which were generally considered to be "rather risqué."

University Press To Hold Conference In Toronto

Toronto — (CUP) — Plans for the forthcoming Canadian University Press conference to be held at the University of Toronto are nearly complete, it was announced last night in the report of the Publications commissioner. The conference will be held in Hart House during three days — Dec. 28, 29 and 30.

Accommodation for 50 delegates has been arranged at the Campus Co-operative Residences. Delegates will be present from 23 student newspapers in Canada, extending from Newfoundland to British Columbia.

The Conference Banquet, sponsored by the Toronto Telegram, will be held the last night of the three-day conference in the great hall of Hart House. It is at this banquet that awards for the best all-around newspapers, in three different groups, and the award for top editorials are made. Gregory Clark, of Weekend Magazine will be the guest speaker.

Sessions of the conference will be held in the Reading Room of Hart House and will consider re-

Dean Thomson Speaks Tuesday

The Student Chapter of the Chemical Institute of Canada is sponsoring a talk to be given by Dean D. L. Thomson on Tuesday, Dec. 8, at 5 p.m. in Room 102 of the Chemistry Building. The topic Dr. Thomson has chosen is "Science and Literature."

Dean Thomson is well known as an authority on a wide variety of subjects outside his field of Biochemistry, and has a reputation as a speaker. The talk is open to all.

Mac' Nets $500 from Students

by Don Allen

Macdonald College, Que., Dec. 6 — (Special to The Daily) — Student Council president Herbert MacTae told The Daily tonight that Macdonald College campus organizers had raised $500 from 600 students in a College-wide charity campaign and had had a 60% overall turnout at a campus blood donor clinic last week.

What the official statement didn't tell was the fun that Clan Macdonald had in doing it!

For example, you could have your fortune told for $2,500 here Wednesday night. You could help your class out in a "Dog Race" through the corridor of the Main Building all day Tuesday. Or you could try your skill at throwing darts or lassoing posts or your luck at Crown and Anchor or bingo at the big Monte Carlo evening. A quarter (or $2,500, depending on how you look at it) would be your admission to the campus-wide charity ball, with student orchestra Friday night.

This weekend saw student committees recovering from the excitement, adding up the proceeds to the annual Macdonald Federated Charities campaign, and agreeing that the $500 objective was close to over-subscribed. Final tallies from canvassers are not yet all in.

But the organizing committee, headed by Brian Rhodes, Agriculture 3, and Ann Stone, Home Economics 4, is already expressing "pleasure and satisfaction" with results from the week-long drive which coupled an appeal for charitable "causes" with a plan for making giving easy. The dance, Monte Carlo night, and "Dog Race" highlighted events on the programme.

The "Dog Race" was a penny drive the length of Main Building corridors spotlighting heated interclass competition. Thirteen thousand pennies brought in over $131.00 to the Drive before the all-day "race" was over and School for Teachers declared winner. Small dogs were mounted at the end of each line of pennies to display graphically how each class was faring in the competition.

The Wednesday Monte Carlo Night was highlighted by betting "in the thousands" as students "converted" their money into Monte Carlo notes at the rate of $1,000 to the dime. The "midway" (Continued on page 4)

To Test if Reds Will Compromise

Winnipeg, Man. (Special to The Daily)—A round-table conference between the Communist dominated International Union of Students and the National Federation of Canadian University Students was proposed over the weekend by Antonio Enriquez, President of NFCUS.

The invitation to IUS suggests that the conference be held in Paris, some time this summer. The NFCUS executive was mandated by the national Conference this fall, to investigate the possibility of a "qualified relationship with the international union."

Enriquez was quoted as saying that such a round-table conference as he proposed would be valuable "to test how far Communist students are willing to go towards meeting with the democratic 'demands' of Western Student bodies. union."

COMMERCE ELECTIONS

Fourth Year Presidential elections yesterday resulted in the record figure of an 81% turnout.

George Peilly was elected with 39 ballots, defeating Fred Ghanous who got 37 votes, in a very close competition.

We hope future generations will take heed of the example set this year by the graduating class in its keen interest in student affairs.

EUS President Of Sir George Loses Position

Sir George Williams—(CUP)—Harold Rogers was ousted from his position as president of the Evening Undergraduate Society of SGWC by a vote on a motion of no-confidence taken against him at a regular EUS meeting, held on Nov. 18.

Rogers was charged with negligence of his duties. Of the six voting members present, three favoured the motion, one was against it, with two abstentions.

Unofficial sources claimed that the EUS publicity chairman, and secretary resigned in protest.

It was reported that the resignation of vice-president Ted Murray will soon follow.

If this situation develops, there would be a lack of a quorum, and as a result the EUS would be unable to function constitutionally, until replacements are re-elected.

Rogers stated that because of the pressure of business and studies he would not contest the verdict nor run for re-election.

Rogers was elected by acclamation last spring.

The non-confidence vote against Rogers was the second in three weeks. Previously, a similar move was defeated.

If all the reported resignations go through, only five persons would remain on the EUS executive.

WUSC Sponsored Opens Wednesday

Silk scarves, brass and silver work, semi-precious jewelry, elephant bells and the inevitable lacquered glass bangles will all be on sale when India comes to McGill this week.

Opening on Wednesday at 2pm, the sale is presented by the World University Service of Canada which has been sponsoring it at universities from British Columbia to the Maritimes.

The sale will be opened by Mr. S. Gupta, First Secretary at the Indian High Commission in Ottawa, while Dr. W.K. Smith, Director of the Institute of Islamic Studies will represent the University. The opening will be covered by radio and television.

SEEDS
One of the more unusual items on sale will be the Manchadi seeds from Travancore. These are seeds from native redwood, and they are hollowed out and a tiny carved elephant in ivory is stuck inside.

The craftsmen who make them are only getting an income of about 10 cents a day. Also, although the chips of ivory from which the little elephants are carved cost them only one ninth of a cent, the workmen can rarely afford them, and have to borrow the money at 700% compound interest per month. They are also forced to put up some sort of security such as a certain proportion of their crops.

Not only do the hollowed out seeds have a carved elephant inside them, they also come with a built in legend. Indian tradition has it that "ten times God's good luck" will come to anyone owning one.

OTHER GOODS
Also featured at the sale, which will last from Wednesday December 9 to Saturday December 12, will be silk scarves of all sizes and patterns from Benares, carved walnut boxes and tables from Kashmir, and belts, handbags, etc. embroidered in silver and gold upon a background of velvet, from Bombay.

PURPOSE
The WUSC Committee hopes that this sale will serve the dual purpose of making Canadians more familiar with Indian handicrafts and culture and also of helping of helping the Indian students with the money raised. Last year - at the first India Sale held here -

4th Annual Tri-Service Ball Planned

The Sir Arthur Currie Gymnasium on Friday, February 5th, 1954, will be the scene of the 4th Annual Tri-Service Ball, organized by representatives of McGill's three armed service contingents. The theme of the decorations, the persons attending and the customs observed are essentially of a tri-service nature.

First held in February, 1951, the Ball has become a McGill tradition. Each year, the decorations have been more elaborate and the attendance has been greater.

The services alternate with the various committee duties: this year, the Air Force will influence the decorations, while the Navy will look after the music and catering. The Army is in charge of refreshments, and the Air Force will also attend to advertising and publicity. A great number of helpers are needed to assist the representatives, especially in decorating.

Cadets D. W. Bray and M. J. B. Lansdown of the University Naval Training Division; 2nd Lieutenant J. R. Darling and Officer-Cadet George Addie of the Canadian Officers Training Corps; and Pilot-Officers M. K. Kehoe, David Hyndman and Flight-Cadet Terry Kern of the Reserve University Squadron, RCAP, comprise the Ball Committee.

$1,111 worth of goods were sold at McGill, with the profit to WUSC being $1,762.

SALES
So far this year, sales seem to be higher at the other universities than last year, with Queen's still well ahead. In their two-day sale they sold at a rate of $500 an hour and made a total of $6,262 - slightly more than their total last year.

PROFITS
Total profits to WUSC last year were $13,810, and it is hoped that the figure will be larger this year. $5,000 of the profits will go as Canada's share of a $20,000 Health Centre in New Delhi. This project was decided upon by the National Conference of WUSC held in Montreal this fall. Canadian students attending the seminar at the University of New Delhi suffer from Tuberculosis.

Remaining profits will go to the WUS educational programme, the financing of foreign students in Canada, and towards another seminar.

A part of McGill's profits on the sale will go to supporting Subroto - an Indonesian student now doing postgraduate work here on a WUS scholarship.

According to Mrs. Mulvaney, who does all the purchasing of goods for the Sale, there is a greater variety this year than ever before. In the silver filigree work itself, she mentioned, there are no less than 4,300 different designs.

Daily Party On Wednesday

All staffers, both old and new, singly or in couples, are invited to the Daily Christmas Party to be held on Wednesday at 9 p.m. in the Clubroom of the Union.

As at all good Christmas Parties, there will be a tree, suitably decorated, Santa Claus and presents, if anyone brings any. The usual procedure is for each staffer to bring a present worth more than 25 cents, which he or she may address to anyone on the staff. Later in the evening, St. Nick appears and distributes the presents. Great is the hilarity when some of the gifts are revealed.

Suitable refreshments will be on hand for all comers, as well as music for dancing. It is also quite probable that someone with a talent for music may be prevailed upon to play a few Christmas songs.

The party is stag or drag, and there will be an admission charge of 50 cents per person at the door. However, tickets may be obtained beforehand for 40 cents per person, from Dale English.

Anyone who is interested in helping to decorate, please turn up at about 4 p.m. of Wednesday, in the Clubroom. You will be needed.

Radford Cup Contest Today

Competition for The Radford Cup for impromptu speaking will be held to-day between 3 and 5 p.m. in the Union Clubroom.

Each contestant will draw a subject five minutes before he is to speak and will then have five minutes to deliver his speech.

The judge for the Radford Cup will be Dr. Solin, Assistant Dean of Arts and Sciences at McGill, and a much experienced critic.

It has been 28 years since a contest was held for this cup, because it was generally thought that there were too few capable impromptu speakers among McGill Undergraduates.

Good attendance is stressed. It is hoped that this competition will be an annual event once more.

Forge - Open House in Print

This year an experiment was tried at McGill. Working in close cooperation the students and the faculty combined to do a job in the University's name: 'Open House' was indeed a venture that proved that students and faculty can work together on a project and represent McGill — the whole of McGill. "This is McGill" could be proudly stated at Open House without having to narrow the statement down to either of its two main components.

It is a good thing when students and faculty can get together and successfully combine their talents. And it is with this in mind that we were most gratified to hear the new editorial policy of 'Forge'.

In the past, 'Forge' has been the publication of the better literary efforts of the student body. This year however, 'Forge' has invited contributions from the faculty.

This is a most welcome move. For under this policy 'Forge' will be a publication of McGill University — rather than a students' magazine.

Also there is to be a shift in emphasis. Rather than primarily fictional material, it is hoped that there will be more articles and essays which should cover a wider range of interest than fiction.

Also there will be illustrations and drawings that indubitably will enhance the magazine as a whole. This will enliven the usual greyness of print.

The move is clearly towards the establishment of a University Quarterly, something our University has been lacking. We look forward to the day when 'Forge' will be a magazine presenting the thought and imagination of McGill rather than the 'fragile aestheticism of the literati'. Something like an Open House in print.

Hats off to the staff of 'Forge', and our very best wishes for the success of their project! Also, our condolences for the amount of work we hope they will be doing after the December 31st deadline.

As Others See It

Whose Turn?

(Reprinted from the Wall Street Journal)

New Yorkers deprived of their local dailies by a newspaper strike, must be having a hard time keeping up with momentous events. For the benefit of these temporarily bereft people we will take up the subject of replies.

Everybody is replying to everybody (though delicacy prevents some from mentioning names). Mr. Brownell (Republican) in effect told Mr. Truman (Democrat). Mr. Truman replied to Mr. Brownell, whereupon Mr. Byrnes (D.), Mr. Hoover (?), Mr. Brownell and Mr. McCarthy (R.) all replied to Mr. Truman. Mr. Truman did not reply to Mr. McCarthy; Mr. Dulles (R.) replied to Mr. McCarthy.

The Daily Worker (Communist) wanted to reply to Mr. McCarthy but couldn't get air time, so that doesn't count.

Meanwhile Mr. Vishinsky (C.) is replying to Mr. Lodge (R.) and vice versa, Mr. Dean (R., presumably) is replying to Mr. Ki Sok Bok (C.) in Korea and vice versa, Mr. Molotov (C.) has replied to Messrs. Dulles, Bidault, (MPR) and Eden (Cons.), but this was a reply to a reply which was also a reply to a reply and so on.

Yesterday Mr. Eisenhower (R.) replied to Mr. McCarthy and Mr. McCarthy was scheduled to reply to Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Dulles. We're not clear whose turn it is next, but that is understandable because the situation is bewildering even for people with newspapers.

Letters to the Editor

Why the Refusal?

Dear Sirs,

With regard to the article which appeared in Friday's Daily concerning 'outside' athletics: Why should a university, or more particularly, the Student Athletic Council of a university, have the right to control the athletic activities of its students? Especially at a university such as McGill, which places so little emphasis on competitive sport, there is no reason for this.

If a student cannot afford the time to take part in a major collegiate sport, (which takes up, in the case of basketball, from ten to fifteen hours a week), because of academic or financial considerations, he is being deprived of playing organized sport at all if he is not granted an outside athletic release. In the case of the undersigned, and four other cases cited in the article, the time taken up by the outside sport is less than half of what it would be at McGill.

In conclusion, we feel most disturbed that the reasons of the applicants who were refused releases, as stated in the Daily, were made to appear quite dubious without any verification.

Unaesthetic Banners

The Daily recently carried a story relating the opinions of Mr. Smyth and Mr. MacLennan of the S.E.C. about Banners on the campus. By personal prejudice they are opposed to banners floating on the campus or union. Banners are unaesthetic to them — only pieces of linen plastered with violent red letters. Their judgment is not advanced enough to realize how practical it is to publicize major campus activities when the Daily is not being circulated. I am sure that the Choral Society and the "India at McGill" committee are more than pleased with the decision of the council.

The objections by MacLennan and Smyth might easily pass unnoticed were it not for the fact that they referred to the decision of their confreres as due to mental softening.

Might I suggest that the attitudes and actions of these reactionaries be looked upon with suspicion. For when banners start to resemble toilet paper, I believe there is some psychoneurotic tendency by Freudian psychoanalytic methods.

Perhaps a psychosis has already developed from cerebral liquefaction. The anticipated sensation of the news of their stand being released on the campus no doubt gave them auricular flutter, and the emboli from this upset have already caused multiple cerebral areas of unfunction that now leave our duo with little hope of recovery.

Where to, Student Spirit?

Dear Sir,

After reading the number one story in the daily last Friday on the Carnival parade, I went home quite disgusted with our University. It seems in the last few years the spirit in McGill has sunk to the lowest ebb possible. What with no cheerleaderettes, no freshmen hazing and now no carnival parade the student body has no way to release the pride they have in the university and the spirit which means so much to college life and its prestige. The attendance at football games, athletic nights and students society meetings all have been on the downgrade in the last few years. Why? It is certainly not due to the lack of enthusiasm on the part of student body as the activities of the students in our Blood Donor Clinic and Pep Rallies have shown. De-

'Sing At Christmas'

with the Choral Society

"Then sing you all both great and small, Nowel, Nowel" typifies the spirit of the Choral Society's annual Christmas Concert, "Sing at Christmas" being held in the Sir Arthur Curie Memorial Gymnasium on Saturday, December 19th at 8:30 P.M.

The first half of the programme will be the Christmas Story in Song. As in the past a variety of types of music from different nations will be represented, such as two Chorales from the Christmas Oratorio by J. S. Bach, "Good News From Heaven" and "Beside the Cradle Here I Stand", "O Santissima", a traditional Sicilian Melody as well as two Negro Spirituals "Go Tell it on the Mountain" and "Mary Had a Baby", featuring Michael Kinsmen as soloist. Adding to the international flavor of the concert will be the narration of the Christmas Story in Song by a group of McGill Student from various lands.

Other works being presented in the half of the programme will include "I Saw Three Ships Come Sailing In", a traditional English Carol; "Touros-Louro Louro", a Provencal Song; "Angels From the Realms of Glory", "The Magi Journey Far", traditional French Carols; and "What Child is This", a Flemish Carol, to the familiar traditional English tune, "Greensleeves".

The audience will have many opportunities to join in some of the more familiar carols, including "Hark the Herald Angels Sing", "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear", "Silent Night" and "O Come All Ye Faithful", as they follow the Christmas Story from the prophecy to the shepherds and the wise men at the manger.

The second half of the programme stresses the more secular side of Christmas — the holly and the mistletoe, the yule log, the Christmas tree, the feasting and the sparkling fun. "Merry Christmas" sets the mood, being followed by "O Tannenbaum" which is sung by the male section of the Choral Society. "Fum, Fum, Fu", a traditional Spanish Carol and "The Sleigh" by Richard Kountz.

CLIMAX

The climax of the show will be Tchaikovsky's fanciful Christmas masterpiece, "The Nutcracker Suite", arranged for voices for Fred Waring. This work will include a light "Overture", "The Dance of the Sugar Plums", "Trepak", "The Dance of the Toy Flutes", with a solo selection by Laura Fink, and "The Waltz of the Flowers".

For the ninth successive year the concert will be under the direction of Mr. Gifford Mitchell, "Giff" is the director of the Montreal Elgar Choir, one of Montreal's leading Choral groups, organist and choir-master of the Mount Royal United Church, Director of Music, Westmount School Board, and has recently been appointed Associate Supervisor of Music for the Protestant School Board of Montreal. With all these various activities we feel proud that "Giff" finds time to continue as our conductor.

This year we welcome Miss Laura Fink, a Gold Medalist from the University of Montreal as our accompanist for the Christmas Concert.

NEW FACES

As usual there are many new faces as well as a large number of old members on hand to make up the 250 voices which will take part in the event. The Choral Society is one of the largest representative groups on the campus having members from every faculty including Graduate studies. Everyone is keen and this pep and enthusiasm is felt throughout the singing.

Not Poets

by Peter D. Scott

We stalactites are built from tears
 Remaining in stone
 Our shape the bundle of collected years
 Standing alone.

Gathering moisture from the sombre roof
 We are the occasional aloof
 Central and sentinel departure,
 Looking proud because we are so heavy and rare.

Sometimes when hollow or loosely hung,
 We can be struck across the side, and rung.

From our excruciating overflow
 Rises a second self below
 Which if it should ever come to meet,
 Would silence our helpless and incontinent beat.

While appearing in the form of waterfall
 There is no such motion in us at all:
 Only as our hanging mass coheres
 We broaden with the weight of years.

No not poets, to our noise you must listen
 Patient, attentive; you are more aware
 Of the way in anguish our sides can glisten.

We introspective have the cataract vision
 Of the opaque but porous limestone prism
 Permitting the descent of our effusion
 (No crystal, our excrement).

Movies This Week

AT THE CAPITOL
 This reviewer does not feel too competent to review "The Farmer Takes A Wife" for we left in the middle of the film. The movie is supposedly a musical comedy, starring Betty Grable. However, we could find nothing humorous about the plot, while the music and dancing was uninspired.

AT THE PRINCESS
 "Appointment in Honduras" offers a colourful and exotic setting some passable acting, and not too much else. A plot of revolution and intrigue is all but (Continued on page 4)

AT THE IMPERIAL
 "Gangster At Bay" is a melodrama set in Paris. It is the story of an American black-market gangster who is rescued by his gang from a Paris Black Maria and spends the rest of the film alternately hiding and trying to reach the Belgian border. It has atmosphere but little else to recommend it.

Art Therrien's University of Montreal Carabins look like the team to beat in that Intercollegiate Hockey loop this year. The Carabins are going at a great clip, with two wins under their belts over the Toronto Varsity Blue, by the scores of 7-5 and 14-3. Above, an unidentified McGill player is getting a sample of the U of M's defense as well, with Auger making a neat stop at Bernie Quesnel coming in quickly to prevent further damage.

Senior Hockey Squad Splits With Michigan

By Irwin Lewis

Ann Arbor, Mich. Dec. 5 — It took three games but Rocky Robillard's senior hockey squad finally came up with their first win of the season defeating the University of Michigan 7-5, in the second game of a two-game series. The Wolverines won the first of the pair last night by a 7-2 count, partially avenging the double beating they received at the hands of the Redmen last year.

Michigan started off very quickly, in their 7-2 win, scoring two goals in the first thirty-eight seconds, and, before the initial period was over, had taken a commanding 4-0 lead, outplaying the Redmen completely in every department.

Cooney got a hat-trick for the Wolverines, while the Red and White goal getters were Bourgon and Johnson. Although outplayed in the first canto, Robillard's men outshot the Michigan sextet in the second and third frames, but couldn't get the puck in that all important place — the net. Whitey Schütz had four excellent scoring chances but hit the goal post and did about everything else, however the little black disc refused to cooperate. This was true of Herb English as well, who had a few scoring opportunities but couldn't capitalize.

Mo Jaques played in the nets for the Redmen and gave a fair account of himself although seven goals were scored on him. Jaques appeared a bit nervous at the start but the poor checking and defensive work of the team in general didn't help any. Len Shaw didn't make the trip and his absence was felt on the defense.

Maybe it was a good night's rest or a great shock from the 7-2 beating, but it wasn't the same McGill squad that took the ice in the second game.

The Redmen started off quickly, notching their first goal before the game was one minute old. At the end of the second frame, Robillard's charges had a commanding 7-2 lead but three goals by the Wolverines in the last period left the final score at 7-5 in McGill's favor.

Hoopsters Crushed In US Clashes

By Morrie Shohet

Lose 98-40 Floored By To Larries Clarkson

Canton N.Y. Dec. 4 — The McGill Redmen hoopsters suffered their second straight loss in as many games at the hands of The St. Lawrence University Larries here this evening before a packed house of local fans. The Larries completely outclassed the game Northerners and ended up on the winning end of a 98-40 score.

The McGillians managed to hold their own for the first minutes of play but the Larries broke the game wide open a few minutes before the quarter with fast breaking plays that left the Redmen too tired to come back. St. Lawrence kept the play going at a torrid clip by keeping fresh men in all the time. They had tremendous depth to their squad with probably all of fifteen men on the team as good as McGill's starting five.

By half time the Redmen hadn't a hope in the world.

The second half was the same story all over again. The Larries pulled out their high scorers and let their second stringers at the impotent Redmen. The McGillian's lack of height (Continued on Page 4)

Potsdam, N.Y., Dec. 5 — The Redmen invaders from McGill University proved no match for the crack cage unit from Clarkson Tech. this afternoon as the locals racked up 87 points, while allowing the McGillians to elude for only 59, in their drive to victory. The Redmen, still recovering from their loss of the previous night couldn't play the brand of ball exhibited by the Knights and never even threatened.

Once again the problem of height, which has plagued the Redmen all along proved their downfall. The Montrealers were completely dwarfed by Clarkson's giant pivot man Bill Burhill. Bill stands six feet seven inches and makes full use of his height on the rebounds. The Redmen had to make their first shot good for they rarely got a second chance off the boards.

Timmy Lake and Mel Mikilachuk tied for scoring honors on the Redmen squad with 14 points each. Gordie Edwards wasn't far behind as he swished for 12.

Artie Rosenberg came through with his usual effective game against Toronto in the first game of a two game total point series for the Intercollegiate championship. Rosenberg has played consistent ball all year and this tussle was no exception. He just missed scoring on a screaming shot which was stopped by a spectacular play on the part of the Blues' goaler.

Red Poloists Lose 11-3 As Varsity Nears Title

By Lewis Batshaw

Toronto, Ont. Dec. 5 — A strong, well-balanced Toronto water polo squad took a stranglehold on the Herschorn Trophy, as Varsity overwhelmed the Redmen 11-3 at their stamping grounds, the U of T's Hart House pool, in the first game of a two-game total-point series for the Intercollegiate title last Saturday night.

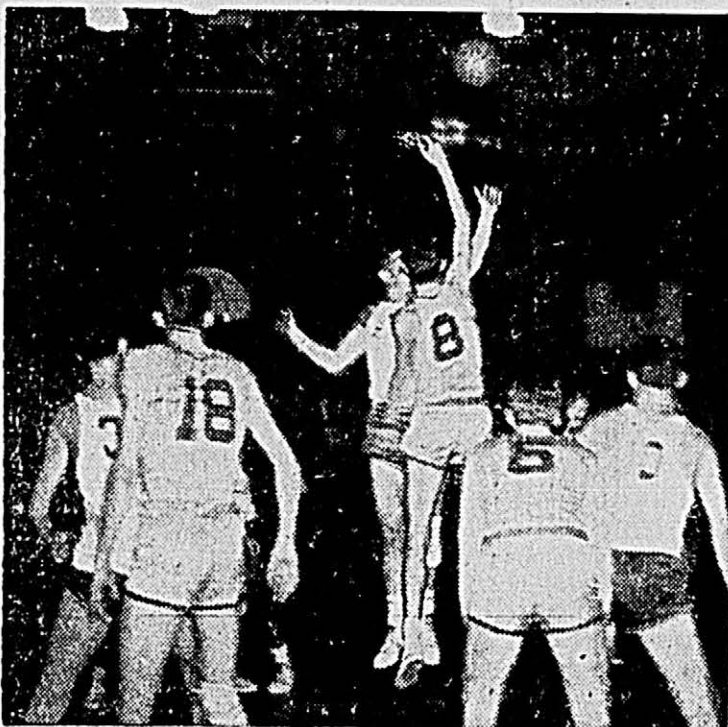

The Blues, defending champs and title holders for the past four years, led the locals 6-2 at half time and added five more in the second half, while holding Norm Ashton's charges to a single marker.

Norm Morfimer, Bernie Langer, Larry Rosen and Bibi Stipetic led Toronto to this triumph, which makes Warren Clayson's club highly favoured to retain their top honours in the series, which ends with this Saturday's clash at McGill.

Morfimer connected for four goals, Langer for three, and Stipetic and Rosen two apiece.

John Bate, Intercollegiate breast stroke champion and Varsity's goaler, came up with a sensational game, as time and time again he thwarted powerful McGill threats.

Seven Exhibition Bouts Featured On Athletics' Night Boxing Card

By Ron Moses

The intercollegiate boxing season officially opens for the Redmen on Athletic's Night, Dec. 12, when they play host to the powerful Queen aggregation. There are to be a total of seven successive matches, all the way from heavyweight to the 135 lb. class.

Heading off the Red and White is Marty Puhvel in the heavyweight division, who boxes against Mills. Marty has a tough job holding up the standard set by Jim Miller, three intercollegiate champ. He has been, however showing exceptionally good form in practice, and is sure to give a good account of himself.

At 175 lbs., Ozzie Downes, the promising fighter from British Guiana is matched against Hardman. Ozzie, showing amazing speed and deceptive style in recent workouts, will be giving it everything he has. His only disadvantage is, that weighing 155 lbs., he is fighting in the 175 lb. class. Whether his speed can overcome this disadvantage, remains to be seen.

Leading the Redmen in the 160 lb. class, will be Don Stirling, a team veteran who has not seen any previous action this year due to the football season. In his one match last season Don showed excellent form and his match with Mathersill should prove interesting.

Pete Hanlon, the American who is showing great promise, goes against Roberts, the intercollegiate champ from Queens. Coach Light has a high opinion of this boy, and although he faces a formidable opponent, he is expected to rise to the occasion.

Novice Paul Ramsay opposes Biddell another Queens champ in the 147 lb. class. It seems a tall order for a freshman to beat an intercollegiate champion, but it is thought by many that he can do it.

John Leckie, formerly of Queens, and now boxing for the Redmen, will have an unusual experience. He boxes against a former teammate of his Al Keir, another of the many of the Gael's champs. Anchorman for the Lightmen is Rolly Thomas, a three year veteran of the team. Tipping the scales at 135 pounds he goes against Bob Sweet three time intercollegiate champion for Queens.

tell it to the judge

"But, officer, I didn't even hear your siren."

It now appears that in this long-standing argument the motorist, for once, is right. Next time you are overtaken by a purposeful arm of the law try coming back at him with this:

"Recent findings reported to the Highway Research Board in California by the Oakland Police Department establish that a motorist travelling 65 miles an hour cannot hear the siren of a pursuing motorcycle until it is practically at his rear bumper. At 55 miles an hour, the siren is inaudible if it is more than 40 feet behind. At 40 miles per hour, the siren is audible only when it is within 65 feet."

There is a possibility that the policeman will reply, "Your argument is irrefutable. Please continue your journey, while I go back and ask the sergeant for a bigger siren". The possibility is, however, a remote one.

Some kinds of sounds carry better than others. For example, you can sit down at a tavern table and practically whisper "Make Mine Molson's". Chances are the waiter will get your message — especially if you appear to be the discriminating type.

On second thought, the waiter might just be playing it safe; he knows that more Canadians drink Molson's than any other brand.
